Trans youth deserve to thrive.

All young people deserve the healthcare they need to grow up healthy, happy, and with the freedom to be themselves.

But since January the Queensland Health Minister Tim Nicholls has been blocking access to vital health care for trans youth. This move was made without expert involvement or consultation.

Trans young people should be centred in decisions that impact their lives and healthcare.

But instead of supporting young people to access the care they need, the Queensland LNP government would rather copy Trump, forcing their political ideology onto the rest of us.

Help us make sure that trans youth can access the care that they need.

Sign our petition now to demand Minister Tim Nicholls reinstate trans youth health care now.
